DECISION IN 184-DAY STOCK BATTLE UPSET BY SUPREME COURT

George F. Willet, winner of a $10,531,109.07 verdict in the famous Willet-Sears trial that ran 184 days to a record, lost his award today when the full bench of the Supreme Court overturned the Dedham jury's verdict.

In a twenty-five page decision, written by Justice Carroll, the full bench upheld exceptions taken by Robert F. Herrick and a group of bankers associated as defendants. The decision declared that there was no fraud proven in connection with the transfer of Willet's proceeds, and that he signed a release. Verbaline, the decision said: "No fraud or duress entered into the execution of the release. There will be no faith in the obligation of a contract or confidence in the person."

REVERE CHIEF ADMITS HE DRANK, SAYS MAYOR

Policemen "coming out of beach joints," policemen drunk on duty, liquor vanishing from police headquarters and Chief John J. Dyer's own alleged admission that he was drinking, were cited by Mayor John E. Walsh of Revere today as reasons for his suspension of the police head.

Chief Dyer made his statement at the opening session of a public hearing granted Chief Dyer and at which Mayor Walsh acted as prosecutor, chief witness and judge.

Because it was necessary for Edward E. Voie, counsel for Chief Dyer, to depart for Suffolk Superior on another case, the hearing was continued with 10 a. m. tomorrow after it had progressed one hour.

KILLER OF PALMER BOY CONFESSES

Palmer, March 9.—A confession that he killed the three-year-old boy, whose body was found stowed in a wine cask on a dump, was made today by Albert H. Doe, 35, of this town, according to State Detective David J. Manning.

The slain boy was identified as John H. Kelley of South Boston, and his mother, Mrs. Ida Kelley, 25, employed by Doe as housekeeper, confessed to a knowledge of the killing, according to the police.

Doe and Mrs. Kelley were arrested, Doe charged with first degree murder and Mrs. Kelley with being an accessory before and after the fact. The man declared, police say, that the struck and shoals the little boy in a fit of anger and several days later, finding the child dead as a result of this treatment, carried the body to the dump in a truck and disposed of it.

Until the identification of the body as that of the Kelley boy, police were inclined to the belief that it was that of "Billy" Gaffney of Brooklyn, N. Y., who was kidnapped last month and for whom a countrywide search had been in progress.

HENRY FORD REBUKED FOR 'SNUB' IN DUBLIN

Dublin, March 9 (A. P.).—Henry Ford was rebuked at the meeting of the council of the National University because it was stated he did not reply to the invitation to accept the university's honorary degree of doctor of law.

Thomas O'Connor, member of the council, said Ford was a good business man who recognized the necessity of attending to correspondence, but he failed to inform the university whether he would accept the degree of law.

In spurring the proposed honor O'Connor believed Ford wanted to show his opinion of such a degree and of the movement to grant it in recognition of Ford's work in South Ireland.

Edmond De Valera, who is now in the United States, is president of the council.

Ambition of Marjorie Bache, 15

Smith College's "Baby" Student

WAITING FOR A PROPOSAL

"I think being married is about the nicest thing a girl can do," remarks this pretty Staten Island girl, Marjorie Bache, 15, when asked exactly the date. "I dropped him on to the door," Mrs. Kelley is said to have told the questioners.

STAYED IN PALMER AND MOTHER CONFESS

It is reported to have confessed to Detective Manning and Chief of Police Timothy J. Crimmins. "He did something that made me mad. It was one day between Christmas and New Year's, I don't know exactly the date. I picked him up and shook him good."

"He dropped him on to the door," Mrs. Kelley is said to have told the questioners.

"I say him on the bed after shaking him," Mrs. Kelley is said to have told the questioners.

"I hid him in the cellar for a day and then one night in the darkness I put the body in my trunk that I use in my dress business and took it to the dump where I often take my things to throw away rubbish."

"Mrs. Kelley is said to have agreed that her story was correct."

VICTIM'S JAW BROKEN. After an autopsy, Medical Examiner Joseph K. Sullivan of this town and Frederick H. Jones of Springfield reported that death was due to a broken jaw.

Do, according to the police, was in the local court in November for alleged ill treatment of the boy's young brother, Leo. The case against him was dismissed.

The missing mother's father was a son by his wife to the law and a better body of the brown-haired, blue-eyed girl, neighbor of Mrs. Kelley in the city.

Crimmins that little John had not been taken for some time.

Some of them were rushed to the undertaker's room of Fred L. Berra, not far from the boy's home in South Main street, and there they identified the body as that of the Kelley boy.

Police officers were waiting to arrest Do and Mrs. Kelley even before the identification was made. As soon as they received word of the positive identification, they entered Do's house and made the arrest.

A survey of the little body, which Chester Kolbus, a high school boy found on the dump, convinced Medical Examiner Jacob Schneider that the mother had been committed.

Both the upper and lower jaws were smashed, the face was otherwise bruised, the abdomen was lacerated and there were unquestionable indications of a deadly attempt to burn the tiny corpse.

Save for a blanket, the body was naked, and it was not disguised by contact with ashes and other rubbish, which were packed on top of it and around it, that identification was difficult.

According to Chief Crimmins, the mother and Do admitted that the body was that of John Kelley. They were forced to view it at the undertaking room, shortly after their arrest.

Mrs. Kelley was called "an infamously bad mother" by Judge Ernest R. Hopkins of Palmer district court last November at the time Judge Hopkins arraigned on the charges of ill-treating John's brother, Leo, four years old.

Leo, in his childhood, was asserted that he was pushed down the stairs and otherwise abused, Judge Hopkins testified at the time.

But said that he considered Do guilty. On the evidence, he said he was forced to find that the mother was a reasonable mother.

"It is significant that the defendant, Do, admits a dislike for children," said Judge Hopkins. "The child's decision, Mrs. Kelley was a witness in Do's behalf."

The murdered child's mother has three other children who have been living part of the time Do, where Mrs. Kelley became somewhat about his mother and partly at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Rock in Brimfield.

She and her husband separated a year ago, according to friends. Do, who is a truckman by occupation, was married.

With mingled feelings of horror and sympathy, Edmond G. Brooks, Jr., arrived here with relatives and a squad of plainclothesmen shortly after the arrest of Mrs. Kelley and Do.

"I hope my search for my baby is ended, though it would be horrible to have it and like this," he said, and he insisted on being shown the body, even though police have been satisfied that it was that of John Kelley.

"No, that's not my boy," Gaffney said when he saw the corpse, and he started immediately for home.

BODY IN WINE KEG. Amid old automobile parts and rubbish of every sort, the wine keg containing the broken body was found by the 15-year-old Kolbus boy, who lives in Thorndike, an adjacent town. It was found half way down a hole of debris at the edge of the dump.

The edges of the blanket in which the body was wrapped were burned and the blanket was full in that city. West Concord is on a hill. Penacook, between the center of the city and West Concord, was also affected.

From reports thus far received here, it is believed the shock travel, either east, from Kent, south from the direction of Portland.

Slayer's Attempt to Burn Body Bared Crime

Palmer, March 9.—Fire, apparently set to hide forever the murder of three-year-old John H. Kelley, failed the murderer by burning just enough of the covering to disclose the body.

The flames burned the top of the blanket in which the boy's body was wrapped and left the feet bare. Chester Kolbus, high school boy, saw the feet protruding from the wine-keg in which the blanketed body was placed and thus discovered the gruesome crime.

TAR THREAT BYER ON TRIAL FOR DARROW IN REVERE

Chief Dyer, for ten years head of his department and for 27 years a member of the force, Mayor Walsh charged that his chief had neglected his duty, had conducted himself in a manner unbecoming an officer and in a manner detrimental to the discipline of the department.

There was a heated exchange of words between Mayor Walsh and City Solicitor John V. Foss on one side and Attorney Voke on the other occurred during the Mayor's testimony. Attorney Voke, taking exception to considerable of the Mayor's statements as hearsay, deplores police laxity.

There have been lots of things going on that I have stumbled upon in this city," said the Mayor. "I have not been getting the co-operation from the police department that I should have."

"There has been a great deal of talk about police conditions and there is not any doubt but that police conditions in this city have been bad. There was bootlegging and there were hoodlums in the city and I don't doubt but that there are still bootlegging and hoodlums, but I don't think there are so many as prior to the suspension of Mr. Dyer."

"The police can't watch the Pine River all the time and I don't intend to watch it. It is not my duty. Why I had a call at 3 o'clock one morning from a woman who wanted me to go out in a motorboat and watch liquor being landed."

"When I became Mayor, I called in the Chief of Police and told him he was going to be chief with no interference from me or from anyone. But yet I have had reports of police officers smoking pipe in various police stations. I have had reports of policemen being seen carrying out of hoodlums and I have had reports of policemen drunk on duty."

"I am not going to talk around this city at night to see if the police are doing their duty. If Mr. Dyer has been hampered by politicians or political strategists, that was not my fault. I told him it was his duty to inform me if anyone was hampering him."

Offense a letter he said was written him in June, 1923, by Chief Dyer and asking a month's leave of absence. Mayor Walsh explained: "The chief came in to me a few days later and he was in a condition unfit for duty. He said he had been drinking and was absolutely unfit for duty and had no desire to exercise his duty. He would take whatever I gave him."

Continuing, Mayor Walsh said: "Conditions in the police department have not been right. They are in a fair state, where he and his wife failed to leave."

Attorney Voke here objected to all the Mayor had said and a clash occurred between the defense counsel and the Mayor, in which Dyer, joined only to be told by Voke that the city solicitor was talking out of his turn and could function at the hearing only as a "silent adviser" of the Mayor.

Only 5 Days More in Which to File Tax Returns

But five working days remain in which to file Federal income tax returns, and the office of the collector of internal revenue suggests that everybody "file now."

March 15 is the closing day. Send no cash through the mails, and be sure and pay no tax to anyone but an authorized representative. Be sure that at least one-quarter of the tax accompanies the return in order to avoid the legal penalty.

WILLET OSES $1,000,000 STOCK BATTLE VERDICT

The defendants entered into a conspiracy to obtain control of the Daniel G. Greene Bell Company and the American Bell Company.

There were nineteen original defendants, but Daniel G. Greene, chairman of the board of directors of the First National Bank, was eliminated during the trial when Judge Cullen directed a verdict in his favor.

The case National Bank of New York was named in the indictment as a defendant, but its name was never made on the indictment or its officers.

At the end of the trial there were the defendants against whom the eleven-man jury returned a verdict of $10,000,000 in favor of Willett.

CHARGES SON OF MILLIONAIRE DECEIVED HER

The shattered romance of a wealthy patient and a pretty student nurse at an exclusive sanatorium, together with an account of a mysterious marriage in Connecticut, was revealed today in a breach of promise suit for $25,000 brought by Alice Tallberg, 26-year-old Uxbridge girl, against William R. Hayes, 22-year-old son of Colonel Patrick Hayes, millionaire contractor of Pawtucket.

Hayes was arrested at the home of friends in Brookline a week ago by Deputy Sheriff William L. Lynch of Norfolk county on a meane warrant issued by Judge James M. Morton after it had been learned that Hayes was planning to leave the State before papers could be served upon him.

Arraigned before Judge Philip S. Parker in the Brookline court, Hayes was required to take oath for his appearance in Worcester county court on March 10, at which time the suit is returnable.

MYSTERY IN "WEDDING."

The arrest of Hayes followed a week of investigation by detectives employed by Attorney Max Zinner of Boston, counsel for Miss Tallberg. The investigation included a probe into the strange marriage ceremony performed in Hartford last November.

While the girl's counsel steadfastly refused to divulge any details of the ceremony, it was learned through the girl's parents that Hayes was un-

ENJOYING NATURE'S BEST TONIC

Mary Woods of South Boston believes in Health Hints of the State Department of Health and she drinks plenty of water. The Department says that next to breathing fresh air, one of the cheapest rules of hygiene is to drink plenty of water. Water is a real food, is good for the kidneys and is an essential part of the body tissues.

FAIR AND FOUL WEATHER

The irregular succession of waves of fair and foul weather is predicted by the bureau to furnish a wet mid-week for Greater Boston. Threatening clouds have gathered on the southern horizon and, reinforced by northeast winds, are expected to sweep up the Atlantic coast within 24 hours.

Temperatures hereabouts will not vary much from their current mark, although they are prone to drop to the freezing point tonight. Forecast for Boston and vicinity:

Increasing cloudiness, followed by rain late tonight or Thursday; fresh to strong northwest wind, shifting to northeast Thursday.

VINCENT CLUB BRIDE SEEKS PARIS DIVORCE

Another romance has gone on the rocks via the divorce mill in Paris, Mrs. Ambrose E. Chambers of New York, formerly Miss Mary E. Billard, prominent Boston society girl, has petitioned the French courts for a divorce. The couple have been prominent socially for the past six years, maintaining an elaborate home at No. 45 East Eighty-fifth street, New York.

The couple were married in Boston on April 2, 1921, while Chambers was a student in the Harvard Law School. The wedding was held in the First Baptist Church on Commonwealth avenue and was one of the social events of the season.

Chambers, son of a prominent New York family, completed his regular course at Harvard in three years and was completing his law course when he wooed and won the young society girl.

Miss Billard, whose mother is Mrs. Isaac William Chick, was a prominent member of the Junior League and the Vincent Club, the latter participated in a number of dramatic and musical shows presented by the younger social set following her presentation to society in the season of 1919-20.

She attended Miss Mary's school and later took a course at the Winsor Training School. Her father was the late Herbert Meridian Billard.

WELSH MINERS RESENT VISIT FROM BALDWIN
London, March 9 (A.P.).—Premier Baldwin's visit to Cwm, Wales, on the occasion of the recent mine disaster, is held by the South Wales miners' council to have been "an act justifying resentment," in view of his attitude during the miners' strike last year.

This is the miners' official reaction to the disturbance at Cwm, in which Premier Baldwin and his wife were booted and threatened. The Labor party has officially dissociated itself from the outbreak against the premier.

BOSTON AMERICAN

BOSTON, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 9, 1927

FATHER STARTS NEW LE BLANC DEATH PROBE

A heart-broken father's fervent plea that the stigma of suicide be removed from the name of his daughter, heartbroken to by Governor Fuller's results today in the reopening of the investigation into the death of pretty Lena LeBlanc, whose body was found on the edge of Leominster Park Lake in December, 1925.

The father implicitly believes that his daughter was murdered, and 1,500 people who knew the girl and signed the petition for reopening of the case circulated by the girl's father, John H. LeBlanc, Governor Fuller heard the father's story, looked into the facts himself, and then formally reopened the investigation, giving it in charge of State Detective Edward J. McCarthy of Worcester.

Chief of Police Michael T. Conlon of Leominster has placed himself and his whole force at the command of the State detective and will take an active part in the investigation, which is expected to prove sensational.

The father, who has never rested in his efforts to remove the stigma of suicide from his daughter's name, was found today that he had come into possession of some very significant facts which he will relate only to Detective McCarthy.

All the witnesses who were questioned at the time the body was found will again be subjected to examination, including Ernest Williams of Leominster, the girl's sweetheart, and Edward Housley, the man arrested at the time but later released and now confined in the State Hospital at Bridgewater.

LINER ARRIVES WITH RESCUED COUPLE

Mr. and Mrs. Melville E. Riley of Los Angeles were probably the happiest passengers aboard the Dollar Line steamer President Garfield when the boat docked in Boston today from European ports.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley were happy because it was by the tiniest margin and the aid of two St. Bernard dogs that their lives were saved while they were touring the Swiss Alps in an automobile.

The couple were caught in a swirling, blinding blizzard in the famous St. Gothard Pass. Their open car became stalled and they had given up all hope, when two big, black St. Bernard dogs found them. One climbed into the car. The other set off for a small village, four miles distant, returning with two native alps dogs.

The natives assisted Mr. and Mrs. Riley to safety.

At another time on their trip a choubert carried their automobile a distance of 600 yards before the wheels touched the ground.

There were two honeymoon couples on the liner, which was a day late on account of storms.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Pieper of Milton, wedded New Year's day, returned from a European honeymoon trip to take up their residence in Milton. Mrs. Pieper formerly was Theresa Lorch. She carried one of the new Lucet dolls, latest rage in baby, as a memento of the trip.

Another couple aboard were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Keilner, stopping here en route to Los Angeles, completing their wedding trip.

Miss Clara Du Brau, executive attaché to the American Hospital at Constantinople, former Boston girl and now resident of Narragansett Pier, returned from her work after an absence of three years.

AWAKENED BY GAS, SAVES LODGER'S LIFE

A woman in Everett street, Dorchester, today, saved Thurston Moberg, 26, a lodger, from death by gas. Even into Mrs. Lilla Alexander's slumber the scent of gas, seeping down from an attic room, penetrated, and she called her husband, Carl.

He found Moberg unconscious on cot upstairs, with the room filled with gas and more flowing from an open jet.

Police sent Moberg to the City Hospital and told physicians Moberg had been accidentally asphyxiated. He will recover.

According to the Alexander, the lodger had been out of work several weeks.

TAX COMMITTEE AGAINST LOCAL EXCISE ON AUTOS

A proposal for a local excise tax on automobiles, sponsored by assessors of the various cities and towns throughout the State, met with an unfavorable report today from the Legislative Committee on Taxation.

The tax was intended to get at owners of automobiles who dodge the personal property levy on April 1.

Hamlet

Ophelia Goes Mad

Shakespeare's Immortal Tragedy

"Thou dost wag thy tongue in noise as rude against me!"
Taken to task by his mother for offending the king, Hamlet flew into a passion and denounced his mother for having married the murderer of her first husband. She screamed in fright and drew back from his pursuing angry gaze.

"Thou wretched, rash, intruding fool, farewell! I took thee for thy better!"
Polonius, who had hidden behind the portiere to hear the conversation, called for help. Hamlet, mistaking him for the king, stabbed him. The show, appearing again, urged Hamlet not to weaken but to strike him.

"There's rosemary, that's for remembrance; pray, love, remember."
Ophelia, Hamlet's sweetheart, was driven insane by the death of her father, Polonius. Her brother, Laertes, ever-ready revenge, threatened the king, but the latter told him Hamlet was not to be touched.

"'Tis a consummation Devoutly to be wished. To die; to sleep!"
Hamlet, child of his father, had continued delay in avenging the death of his father, was tempted to end his own life, but, gaining courage, he reconsidered. The wicked king, in order to be rid of him, sent him to Portugal.

SMART COUPE A NEW DODGE CAR FRANKLIN HIT

One of the features of the Auto Show offered by the Franklin Company in their convertible coupe with door glass frames and windows that completely disappear whenever it is desired. This transforms the coupe into a smart open car, since the machine has the collapsible top characteristic of the roadster.

The convertible coupe has a custom body by De Causse. At the show, the exhibition car is painted deep Dury blue with black and gold trim and has interior upholstered in deep blue leather. The trim lines and two-tone utility are given for it a host of admirers at the show.

COST $1,650

The new supplementary higher priced car which Dodge Brothers will offer during the early summer, priced at $1,600. F.O.B. Detroit, for the four-door sedan, C. F. Mueser, sales manager of the Hirschbach Motor Company, announced today.

This declaration was made in order to dispel any uncertainty of the difference in price between the standard and supplementary models. Dodge officials are of the opinion that some prospective buyers may have delayed entering their standard models while they awaited full announcement of the features of the new car.

While announcements previously made emphasized the fact that the supplementary car will be considerably higher in price, and will in no way conflict with present standard products, it is in order to settle the buyers' problem that we make the above known.

"Other specifications will not be released until the car is ready to be shown."

Low mileage, low price. Many model cars are on hand. Call for Catalogue of the Classified Ads. Classification 100.

Among Youth's Tasks To Rebuild Europe, Says Otto Kahn

London, March 9 (A.P.)—Faith in the younger generation was today voiced by Otto Kahn, New York financier and director of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company.

"I think the younger generation will give the world just as efficient business men, just as far as the artists and inventors. Just as courageous pioneers and every bit as able statesmen as their forebears," Kahn stated in an interview.

Europe's most urgent need, he believed, is mutual understanding and cooperation, which he declared "a task for the younger generation."

1,000,000 CAR SALES, 100 OF CHEVROLETS

"One million cars and trucks in 1927." This sales objective and New England's part in it is the feature of a plan outlined by E. R. Grant, vice-president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet organization, and made known to 650 Chevrolet dealers at the Reputary Theatre today.

Sales plans call for an increase of 50 per cent over the record sales made in 1926.

"That an excellent start toward the new goal has already been made was claimed today, when Chevrolet officials declared there had been an increase of 65 per cent in registrations for the first two months of this year as compared with 1926.

During the month of February, he said, all production records for that period were shattered when the output exceeded 15,000 cars, and in order to meet the still greater demands daily production is being stepped up from 3,000 to 4,000 machines per day with the factory operating on a six-day week day night basis.

TIPTOP OPEN OR CLOSED

SPLENDID FRANKLIN MODEL

Convertible coupe, shown by the Franklin Company, is a big hit with Auto Show patrons. So built that the door glass frames and windows entirely disappear, the closed coupe is easily changed into a most attractive smart open car, with room for three persons, and space for two more on the rumble seat. The new model captures the eyes of the motor car connoisseur.

'FORGOTTEN' IN WILL, SUES

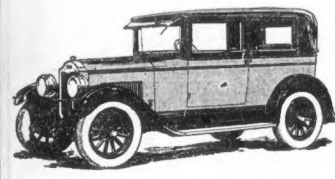

Miss Jean Foster, a Brookline housekeeper, has sued the estate of the late Samuel Y. Nash of Brookline for $10,000 as a result of being "forgotten" in his will.

The suit has been filed at Dedham and, according to the housekeeper, the will she entered into as a result of her being "forgotten" in his will, she entered into as a result of her being "forgotten" in his will, she entered into as a result of her being "forgotten" in his will.

SO. BOSTON MAN FINED $400 IN LIQUOR CASE

A record-breaking fine for a first offense of keeping and exposing liquor was imposed upon Martin Kelleas of Washburn street, South Boston, by Judge Loring in South Boston court today. He was fined $400. Police claimed to have seized five gallons of liquor in his home.

INTERNATIONAL PAPER CO. TO BUY BATH IRON WORKS

Portland, Me., March 9 (A.P.)—The International Paper Company has obtained an option on the Bath Iron Works plant at Bath, which has been idle for several years and which built several naval cruisers before and during the war. William H. Cowie, industrial engineer, said negotiations were under way for the plant and for a portion of the water-front facilities at Bath.

A New York dispatch said that it is proposed to use the Bath port extensively and to transform the plant into a general machine shop for all the newprint mills of the International Paper Company in Maine, New Hampshire and Canada.

INCREASE NASH BODY PLANT

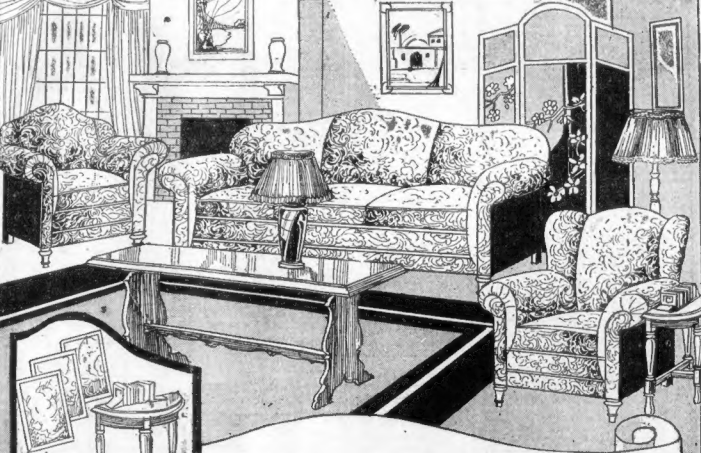

That heavy investments in plants devoted exclusively to body production have been made by the Nash Motors Company in preparation for the coming year was the statement made at the Copley Place by M. H. Pettit, vice-president, and assistant general manager of the Nash Motors Company, who is attending the automobile show with E. H. McCarthy, Nash general sales manager. The occasion was the annual luncheon tendered by C. P. Rockwell, of C. P. Rockwell, Inc., to Nash dealers of New England.

Mr. Rockwell presided and told of the rapid and steady increase of the sales of Nash cars in this territory from 1918 when sales totaled 372 to the present year when sales reached the large number of 215,000.

In speaking of the sales outlook for the coming year, Mr. Pettit said: "The Nash Motors Company has extended its investments in body production in order to produce the stringently original body styles which characterize our new cars. In preparation for the coming year we are well equipped with a line of new models which offer the motorist public something distinctly different."

"Though it is still very early in the year the demand on the factory for the production of these new models has been most impressive and gratifying, so I feel confident in saying that I believe the coming year will bring a very favorable amount of business to the Nash Motors Company."

A "score-catch" in the Swiss Room where the Nash luncheon was held showed the standing of dealers in Nash cars in various sections of New England.

COMMENT ON SOCIETY HAPPENINGS BY BETTY ALDEN

Juniors Give Final Supper-Dance Friday

"WHAT ARE YOU GOING AS?" is the question going the Young Set rounds—as Friday night comes nigh and fancy dress is the thing for the last of the Junior Supper-Dances. They are "going as" most everything under the sun it seems, and many of the costumes are gems of beauty and originality. These Young Set people are inveterate travelers, and as something I got to Egypt or China or Spain or wherever will appear at this final jollification. As to the supper groups, young Mr. Hayes Sturges, son of Mrs. Walter Rush Sturges, caps them all with reservations for a half hundred.

MISS KATHERINE PERKINS, one of the Young Set's prospective brides, is entertaining sixteen at the Supper Dance. The Bentley Wirt Warrens, Jr., have a party of twelve, and Miss Joan Sears has fourteen. Miss Virginia Roberts has twenty. Mrs. N. F. Hallowell, director in chief of these very smart dances for the young people, will probably put in an appearance at this last affair. A family bereavement has kept Mrs. Hallowell out of the social picture for some time, so her welcome back will be anxious. Mrs. James Lawrence and Mrs. Hugh Scott, in Mrs. Hallowell's absence, have directed Supper Dance affairs with utmost severity, as is to be expected from two such.

SO STUPENDOUSLY successful have been the Christopher Shop luncheons that still another, the fourth, is added to the list and set for April 12. It will be "International" and have for its setting Boston's smart Club Marco. Yesterday's very successful "Italian" luncheon at the Club Marco was a pretty function, perfectly arranged and perfectly served, thanks to Signor Cayrol and the Signora Caproni. Mrs. Horace Morison, Mrs. Wilbur, Mrs. J. Pennington Gardiner and the other Christopher Shop workers. And to give full credit where credit is due, I must not fail to mention the Junior Leagues who served as waitresses.

EVERY CALL FOR DUTY made the probationary leaguers up and smiling and ready to work.

with a will. How cheerfully they respond. And how alertly they go through the various duties that help make them full-fledged members of the smart organization. It was an attractive and accomplished set that Miss Pennington Gardiner enrolled for yesterday's luncheon. Mary little headsets and stay aprons, poet and bright as daffodils, were "uniforms" in keeping with the Italian motif of the luncheon.

MISS LAGORRA DIDONS DE PIERREFEU was in the band. Likewise Miss Alva Gray.

Miss Molly Walcott, Miss Virginia Curtis, Miss Marie Louise Gray and Miss Eleanor Drinkwater. Some of the League members will past the finishing stage but nevertheless leading the call to duty were Miss Hope Patterson and Miss Isabelle de Pierrefeu. Mrs. Joseph D. Leland, mother of the Misses Deloris and Lenora de Pierrefeu, was a luncheon guest, attractively arrayed in pale rose velvet with matching hat.

SOME CHRISTOPHER SHOP HEADLINERS were at the head table—Mrs. Morison, Mrs. Thomas Moley, Jr., William Mayo, Miss Elinor DeW. Jackson. The Marches Ferranti was an honor guest. Likewise the Signor and Signora Caproni. These two it was who loaned their chef for the occasion and then, to make it a complete gift, followed this up by donating the entire luncheon and supervising its preparation. Thus to they express, very materially.

their abiding faith in the Christopher Shop, and in the great good work that it does for the incapacitated.

QUITE THE MOST distinguished figure at the Raggedy Theatre for the Camp Fire Girls' Matinee was Mrs. Henry Lee Higginson. The widow of the beloved Major Higginson (who did so much for Boston's cultured growth) is herself a beloved and venerated figure in the old aristocracy of the town. Very seldom these days does she appear abroad, so that when she does venture forth the afternoon will become an occasion. Her grandson, Henry Higginson, 3d, was in attendance; also his pretty little wife, the former Miss Betty Bird. The younger Mrs. Higginson was smartly turned out in a beige crepe wrap and snug chapeau, griffingly becoming to her riquant blonde type.

THE AFTERNOON was devoted to three games—Drama, Music and Poetry. And young Mr. Alan Farman, with his violin found himself Miss Savette, with John H. Green and his symphony.

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

The Style-Car of the $1000 Field Offers Matchless Luxury at Its Price

Again Nash has struck far ahead of all competition with this phenomenal new development—the De Luxe Light Six Sedan.

Without an equal in style and grace, and finished in a lustrous blue lacquer, this striking car offers also an array of refinements which definitely establish it as the most luxurious car ever offered at its price.

The seat upholstery is of genuine Chase Velmo Mohair Velvet, and the steering wheel of genuine Circassian Walnut, giving to the interior that air of distinction that invests the very costly cars. A further decorative note is given by the walnut finished instrument board and window ledges.

Both headlamps and cowl lights are patterned in the smart bullet-type design. There's a motometer atop the winged radiator cap, and there are bumpers in front as well as bumperettes at the rear.

4-wheel brakes and five disc wheels are standard equipment, and the car's beauty and luxury are matched by the brilliant performance-ability of its great 7-bearing motor—the world's smoothest type.

ERUPTION OF $7,000 'FULL WORTH' HOME PROGRESSES FAST

STORY OF EXCAVATION, FOUNDATION AND FRAMING

THE 'Fullworth' Home at Melrose Highlands, which was introduced to readers of The Boston American's Home Building Page two weeks ago, has begun to take form. Ground has been broken, the foundation laid, posts erected, and some of the house framing completed. In short, this $7,000 model home is beginning to take on the aspect of the reproduced original drawing, that of a charming six-room early Colonial type house.

Just what work was necessary to develop the house as indicated in the photograph, would probably surprise a large number of prospective home builders. Many details pertaining to the purchase and title searching of the lot and the obtaining of the building permit required the attention of the contractor. After the title to the land was passed and the deed duly recorded in the Registry of Deeds, the property was surveyed in order to determine its boundaries. Careful thought had to be given to the zoning restrictions of the section in which the home was to be erected, the American Fullworth Home.

PRELIMINARY WORK IMPORTANT.
The preliminary work at the Melrose Highlands Model Home was carefully planned. As it should be in the case with every newly laid home, better boards were erected outside the four main drains of the house at the proper distances from the lot line. The contractor's stakes driven into the ground, and boards nailed to them at right angles. From these boards were stretched chains which outlined the exact size of the foundation and the height of the sill from the ground. In this instance, the sill was less than two feet from the ground.

The subsoil of the Melrose property was found to be of good sand and gravel variety, and care was taken to pile it in a safe place for use in the landscaping of the finished home.

EXCAVATION AND FOUNDATION.
Digging the cellar was the next step. This was dug down six feet below the top of first floor joists is seven feet. The area and depth of the excavation for the cellar are greater than the house itself in order to make room for the concrete footings and cellar walls. In all exterior foundation walls, interior bearing partitions and sills or posts in the cellar, there are footings. The footing must be from four to six inches wider on each side than the masonry it supports, and from 8 to 12 inches deep. In the case of the Melrose house, these specifications were carried out perfectly, and footings of concrete were made.

Having built in the footings, the next move by the workmen was to build a foundation wall. This was done to a level slightly above the ground, laid in rows of concrete blocks.

The construction work continued in the placing upon the footings of a low wall of six inch concrete blocks, known as the foundation wall. Cellular window frames were then secured in place. The sill was placed on top of this low wall; excavation was made for the outside cellar stairway run down to the cellar to the ground level, later to be covered with built-in concrete. Other openings than the foundation footings were pointed out. These were placed under the 3½-inch cellular concrete blocks. The main girder and which in turn supports half the load on the first floor joists, and the main bearing portions of the house. Similar action was taken for the support of the porch of the house.

Strangely enough, many home builders and even contractors can cause the underpinning of a house with the foundation. The underpinning is that part of the supporting structure of the house which is below the ground level and the wooden sill. The foundation itself is much thicker than the underpinning, and on account of the fact that it must resist earth pressure.

The sill, which is placed upon the underpinning, and the girder supported on the sill columns, form a sturdy built wooden chassis, which supports the entire first and second stories of the house.

ERECTION OF FRAME.
In the construction procedure 2x6 inches braces, placed upon the sill and the girder, 16 inches apart from each other on center, and rough flooring was nailed to the joists. Then, 2x6 inches, running the entire two stories of the house, were placed on the sill at the four corners of the house and braced by studs. These studs, placed 24 inches apart, and tenoned the 4x4 inch braces, which will carry the second floor. With the foundation laid, the underpinning and the main skeleton of the frame erected, came the marking off for window and door

It is at the corner of Glendale and Henshaw avenues, Melrose Highlands, from Sullivan square via through to Everett, Malden square and Franklin square, Melrose Highlands. openings on the sill. These openings were appropriately braced and the spaces between them, which later will be solid wall, were filled with studs 16 inches apart on centers, stanchions equidistant to the sill and the girder above. Sheathing boards were then nailed to the studs of the outside wall, and the inside of the outside wall and door openings.

Just the design of the American 'Fullworth' Home is based upon early Colonial precedent, as is the framing. The framing of this house is known as the modern second floor combination. The early craftsmen of the first Colonial period in England, by the use of the framing, were able to make the house stronger and more durable than the houses of today. The early craftsmen of the first Colonial period in England, by the use of the framing, were able to make the house stronger and more durable than the houses of today.

The story of the evolution of the American 'Fullworth' Home will be continued on Wednesday, March 22, the next issue of the American Home (page 1).

FRAME HOUSES WELL BUILT ARE PERMANENT

Many of the oldest houses of America are of frame construction, and this fact is not at all surprising, for wood under ordinary conditions of use and exposure outlasts several other materials.

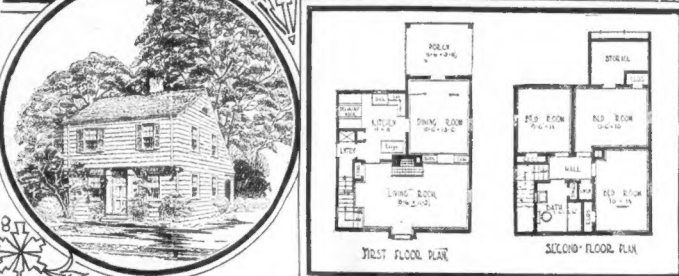

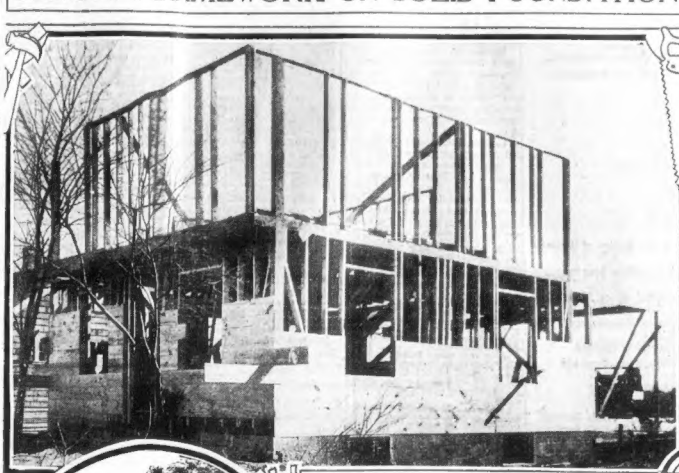

Wood is the cleanest material to use, the lightest to lift, and the easiest to work and fit. In short, there is no other material so well adapted to economical house construction as wood. It is a wonderful structural material.

All that wood requires is that it shall be properly seasoned, or dried, with a suitable preservative depending on the use to which it is put.

CEMENT-ASBESTOS SHINGLE TO COVER ROOF OF HOME

The roof covering of a house is one of its most important parts. According to modern standards, the roof should be proof against the ravages of the weather and against the hazards of fire and withal an element of distinctive beauty.

The silver grey cement-asbestos shingles such as have been chosen for the 'Fullworth' Home meet all the requirements of a roof covering. They are fireproof, weatherproof, and durable.

WOMAN BLAMES EX-SOLDIER AS ATTACKER

Matthew P. Carmody of City Point, South Boston, a dishonorably discharged soldier, was named by Winthrop police today as the "attacker" wanted for attacking and robbing Mrs. Florence Mottrell, in Battery station, Winthrop, last Saturday.

The ex-soldier, prior to his discharge from the service, was stationed at Fort Banks, which is only a short distance from Battery station.

Photos of the former soldier have been identified by Mrs. Mottrell.

"That's him! That's him!" she exclaimed when shown the pictures at the Winthrop Community Hospital, where she was taken after the attack. "How could I ever forget that face? Of course he looks older now than he looked in that picture, but I'm positive that is the man."

In addition, the police say a number of residents of Winthrop have identified the man they saw in the vicinity of Battery station on the morning of the attack.

The lieutenant police Douglas of the Winthrop police appeared in East Boston Court today, asking charges for the man's arrest, charging him with assault and battery and robbery.

It was in 1922 that Carmody was discharged from the army, and sent to live with his mother. According to his mother, he left his mother's home after beating her. Later he was living at City Point, but nothing has been seen of him since the attack.

Mrs. Mottrell, following the attack, identified Elio Nelson, a staff sergeant, as the man who helped her to the hospital.

Greet submitted a strong affidavit in the form of his time card at the time of the attack.

Washington, March 9 (A.P.)—Great Britain does not intend to lay down any naval vessels of her 1927 program of new construction until late in the year or until the outcome of the disarmament conference is known, William Clive, British ambassador in London, told the House of Commons today.

When the conference is held, under construction will not be stopped, he said.

FREDERICK BENSON Sixteen-year-old Brockton schoolboy who wandered to New York, faced hunger

BROCKTON BOY FACED HUNGER

Brockton, March 9—Having failed to get into the United States Navy because he is half an inch too short, Frederick Benson, sixteen-year-old schoolboy, is back home after five days in New York city.

The boy, a student at the Junior high school, found classes too hard, he decided to see something of the world and, without bothering to tell his parents, made his way to New York. Without funds, he applied for enlistment in the navy and was rejected.

The hungry life of a care-free adventurer finally pulled on the boy. He appealed to the authorities, who notified his parents. F. A. Benson, the father, of No. 65 Haverhill street, wired money for a ticket to New York. The father met the boy on his arrival in Boston. Father and son have had an understanding of which neither will talk.

Safe Now When Others Come Close!

The Secret of Keeping a Perspiring Body Sweet

Do you know why thousands of people who never have to take a laxative, do eat a candy casket now and then?

They have found that cascara sweetens the whole system—brings an unconsciousness of person that makes everything. It prevents bodily contraction, or even making one unpleasantly offensive to others. And what a perfect regulator of the bowels!

Safe after the lifting of the bowels. Mineral oil has a coating that the bowels must carry off through the pores. How much better to cascade the system, and cause the bowels to expel everything by normal muscular contraction, or even making one unpleasantly offensive to others. And what a perfect regulator of the bowels!

THE LAVENDER NOTE

By Louis P. Armstrong

[illegible]

WHEN YOU BECOME A MACHINE YOU LOSE CHANCE OF SUCCESS

If you are able to give the full force of your body to the regular work you have, you are not only increasing in your position. Really big men, who have the full force of work they perform are not the kind of men who just get by. They are the kind of men who are the best.

Men who can stand at the pound of a force and never think of it again will be there at the same place a day later can't expect to be a great man.

And there will be a machine gun at a place of a button.

And if you are a person who keeps on going, it is snapped off.

Or possibly, it is a machine gun, and you can remain point.

And if you are a man, and you are a valuable person at work is not controlled by the button on the gun.

Brands may be used in the best sense.

MEDBURY SAYS

By JOHN F. MEDBURY

Copyright, 1927, Inland Feature Service Inc. Great Britain Rights Reserved

THE tournament lasted three days. And the prize was a box of hypodermic needles.

EVERY pill was autographed by the manufacturers.

ONE fellow ate 45 sandwiches and didn't lose a finger.

ONE of his thumbs was missing, though, but he might have left it on his plate.

THE water will probably find it when he clears the table.

THE winner of the contest consumed 55 waffles, 33 doughnuts and 27 omelets. His claim he was disappointed because he was on a diet.

HE had planned to eat five quarts of jelly, but he got St. Vitus' dance and couldn't control it.

JELLY is hard enough to handle the stunts lasting from the radiator.

HE was a wonderful performer just the same. He ate so fast that he hit himself in the chin.

Children Cry For

Fletcher's CASTORIA

Why Castoria?

Years ago Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups were the remedies in common use for Infants and Children; Castor Oil so nauseating as to be almost impossible and the others all containing Opium in one form or another, but so disguised as to make them pleasant to the taste, yet really to stupefy the child and give the appearance of relief from pain.

It required years of research to find a purely vegetable combination that would take the place of these disagreeable, unpleasant and vicious remedies that from infancy had become almost universal. This was the inception of, and the reason for, the introduction of Fletcher's Castoria, and for over 30 years it has proven its worth, received the praise of Physicians everywhere and become a household word among mothers.

A remedy ESPECIALLY prepared for Infants and Children and no mother would think of giving to her baby a remedy that she would use for herself, without consulting a physician.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

WESTERN, in the history of the Western world, were there so many youthful marriages, callow romances and infantile elements as there are today.

"Life," for a girl, used to begin with her first real grown-up love affair. Now, it begins in her babyhood.

As soon as a baby girl cuts her four front teeth, she wants a taste of the forbidden apple—and for the time she is tall enough to reach the apple she is tall enough to reach the apple.

At seventeen, she is standing with reluctant feet, where wedding and matrimony meet. At eighteen, she is a sophisticated woman of the world; at twenty, she is getting blasé; and at twenty-five, she is beginning to feel positively senile.

The wedding ring isn't carried to the altar on a white satin heart any more; it is carried in the baby carriage along with her rattle.

You send your little nine-year-old to the corner for a pound of animal crackers and a bar of chocolate—and behold, she comes back with a bar of soap, a copy of "Peanut Youth," and a whole new set of lines on self-expression and soap-pail.

Most of these youthful marriages don't last until the installment men come around, and scarcely one holds out until the honeymoon is worn out.

But what can you expect of a marriage based on half-baked emotions and untripped minds, except a bad case of sentimental indigestion?

Little green hearts cannot know what love is!

Life and love and experience take all things else, must ripen slowly, cold on the chest.

Cross, Feverish Child Is

Bilious or Constipated

Look, Mother! See if tongue is coated or stomach sour

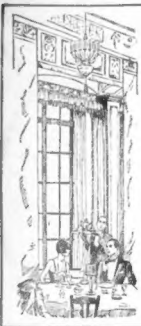

"California Fig Syrup" can't harm tender stomach, bowels

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Fig Syrup" that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without gripping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless, "tasty laxative" and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and unaltered food passes out of the bowels, and you have again, "playful" child again. When it is the system is full of cold, throat sore, hot, tongue-acid, diarrhoea, indigestion, "colic"—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers know "California Fig Syrup" handy! They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups, printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, no don't be fooled! Get the genuine, sold by "California Fig Syrup Company."
